

In a community like Austin that is so highly educated, there is certain to be a great deal of voter awareness of this issue.